COOLEY MANION JONES LLP PERSONAL INJURY PRACTICE GROUP

CONTINUING A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE.

Since its inception in 1984, the personal injury practice group at Cooley Manion Jones has achieved national recognition for its handling of some of the most complex, high-stakes and historic personal injury cases in New England. The team of lawyers has a long history of achieving multimillion-dollar recoveries in sophisticated general liability and medical malpractice cases for its clients.

In January 2014, CMJ will become two law firms. The CMJ personal injury group will become Jones Kelleher LLP. The name is changing, but the legal team and its commitment to excellence will remain the same. These accomplished lawyers, including Patrick Jones, Donna Corcoran, Tim Kelleher, Rob DeLello, Ralph Liguori, Richard Paterniti and Beth Conway, represent well over 100 years of combined experience over a broad spectrum of high-end catastrophic personal injury and medical malpractice matters. Jones Kelleher LLP looks forward to continuing a legal practice that has become a recognized leader in New England. "The reach and success of our practice is a testament to our depth of experience and access to resources," explains partner DeLello. "We ensure that every case is properly prepared for trial by a hand-selected team, leading to significant results for our clients." Adds partner Corcoran, "We're able to anticipate and prepare for any situation that may impact our clients. We look forward to providing the same level of commitment to our clients in the future as we have for almost three decades."

The practice group repeatedly receives the highest ranking of Tier 1 for personal injury litigation by U.S. News—Best Lawyers® "Best Law Firms." Jones Kelleher attorneys have also been recognized individually by publications such as Super Lawyers Magazine and The Best Lawyers in America® for their result-oriented advocacy. The team of attorneys includes members and leaders of prominent legal organizations: Pat Jones is a past-president of the Massachusetts Academy of Trial Attorneys (MATA) and is the current president of the Rhode Island Association for Justice, and Tim Kelleher just completed a successful term as the president of MATA. "The stability of our team over the past 29 years is a benchmark of the commitment we share for each other and for our clients," explains partner Jones. "We are proud to continue that tradition as Jones Kelleher LLP."

Building on their commitment to improving lives, the attorneys are actively involved in charity work, contributing to many academic institutions and nonprofit organizations. Attorneys also participate in continuing legal education programs and lecture at local law schools and colleges.
